Dear New CABAA Member,

Business aviation is facing significant challenges including user fees, Temporary Flight Restrictions (TFRs), and new taxes. Grassroots organizations like CABAA are essential for our community to meet these challenges.

The CABAA, along with all of us at NBAA encourages everyone with a vested interest in business aviation to be active in making your voices and opinions heard by the politicians and security officials in your region. The best way to influence change is through collective strength-and the best way to build that strength is through CABAA.

Working together, CABAA and NBAA can effect positive change at local and national levels and project a unified voice in ways that cannot be overlooked. To that end, I hope you'll consider your membership in CABAA as your direct link to the policymakers affecting your livelihood.

Positive change only happens when those with common interests work in unison. We look forward to working with you through the new team at the Chicago Area Business Aviation Association.

Sincerely

Edward M. Bolen
President and CEO
